

SOMETHING BEAUTIFUL

A C&I FILMS ORIGINAL

CONFIDENTIAL

A SERIES BORN OUT OF A SIMPLE IDEA — the idea that black people in America should not be made to feel like their stories are less important than others. The series takes you on a journey through the eyes of black people dealing with what it feels like to be black while also highlighting the beauty of being black.

STORIES THAT CAPTURE THE STRUGGLE AND THE BEAUTY

During a filming session in South Florida, we met Marnino, a poet from Miami. The passion and smooth delivery of his work motivated us to help bring his words to life. Because for far too long minorities have been victims of racial profiling, abuse, and systematic discrimination. We have been marginalized and actively disenfranchised, despite having a profound impact on American history, culture, and society.

Although recent events have led to increased awareness about ongoing discrimination against African Americans, race relations and civil rights remain front-and-center in the national discourse. With this series, we are showing that black is beautiful and you'll see scenes that make you uncomfortable, make you think, make you want to strive for change.
